70 Possible Courses . . .

National Review recently ran an editorial on this country's military problems, under the grim title "Poison of Weakness." That position, in the opinion of the magazine's editors, is an extremely critical one. In particular, our production of effective intercontinental ballistic missiles has been far below what was expected and what the military experts are convinced is needed. The same thing seems to be true of other weapons.

National Review then made this all-important comment: "To insure domestic tranquility and to provide for the common defense: these are the essential tasks of government — the excuses for government. If a government cannot defend its citizens, it is a government no longer. To this primary duty all other governmental tasks and functions — all without exception — are subordinate. Yet the budget-balancing slashes proposed by both the President and Congress apply in every case to the instruments necessary to the common defense, while dozens of subsidies and handouts for everything from bridges to electric lights are not only maintained but increased."

That covers the case clearly and accurately. Therefore, an adequate national defense — occupying a position of strength instead of weakness — can be obtained in just one of two ways. We can obtain it by further increasing appropriations and taxes. Or we can obtain it by eliminating the spending on governmental luxuries, non-essentials and the advancement of national socialism. In this election year, the people should make known which of these two courses they endorse.

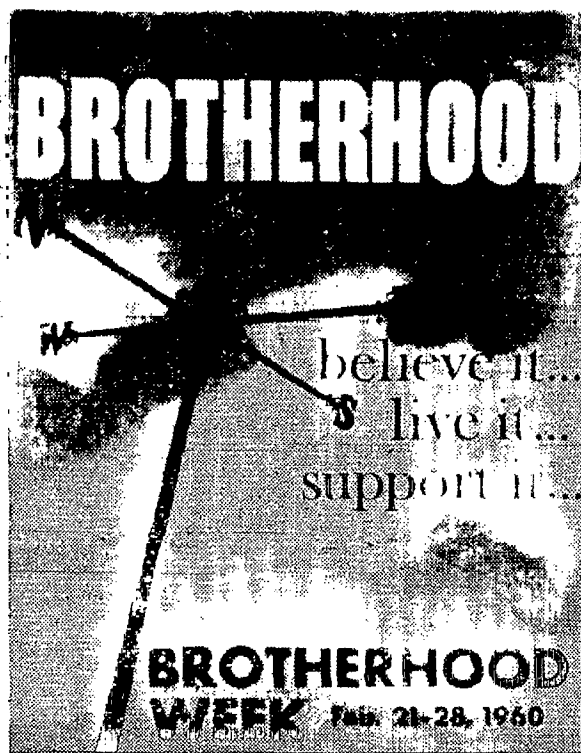

What Jam Jar . . .

The President forecasts a $4.4 billion budget surplus for the coming fiscal year, and urges that it be used to reduce the national debt.

This, if it happens, will be good news indeed after so many years when big deficits were the rule. But it is not going to happen automatically. Indeed, going by the views and statements of some members of Congress, there is grave doubt if it will happen at all.

As one observer put it, the big spenders in Congress "eye a jar $4.4 billion surplus the way a small boy eyes a jam jar in the pantry." They want to spend it on more "do good" and welfare state programs, including programs which socialize taxpaying business and make swollen budgets inevitable.

The President can propose a budget, but only Congress can make it into law. If the big spenders have their way, the expected surplus will disappear, there may very well be another deficit, and hope for either debt or tax reduction will go glimmering.

"If the railroad industry is to grow and serve our future economy, it must be able to develop a policy of service and pricing that will serve the transport needs of the public, not hampered by unreasonable public policies." — John J. Allen, Jr. Under Secretary of Commerce for Transportation.

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO

February 25, 1937

In spite of protests by winter sports officials, scheduled Sunday snow trains from Detroit, Jackson, Lansing, Flint, Saginaw, Bay City and other stations arrived as previously scheduled. Passengers had been notified that participation in winter sports would be impossible, most passengers, however, wanted to come anyway. As the snow train promoters. As the trains rolled in they were greeted by a downpour of heavy rain. The storm had been in progress for a couple of days and the skating rink was, instead of ice, a lake of water. And the toboggan slides had nothing to offer but melting. Lines of ice leading into a field of water at the bottom of the slides. In fact, the whole park was flooded and even entrance into it meant driving or walking through floods of water. Trucks met and backed up a few who were waiting to see the park made the short trip. Later trucks conveyed hundreds to the Hartwick Pines where the pavilion provided shelter and enabled the visitors to enjoy the time indoors. A banquet for the queen was arranged at Shoppings Inn on Saturday. Miss Eleanor Tumuth, Grayling queen, acted as hostess.

Grayling's Green and White basketball tossers rang up another victory Friday night when they invaded West Branch to turn back the Orange and Black clad warriors by 30-21. Captain Ed Chalkler again was the scoring ace for the locals, as with the able assistance of the rest of the aggregation, he piled up 19 points.

Fred Dionne is in Detroit on business for several days.

Mrs. F. J. McClain and sister Miss Yvonne LaGrow, visited over Sunday in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Madsen and son Howard of Detroit were weekend guests of relatives.

Dr. Don M. Howell and a party of friends from Alma were at their cottage on the Manistee river over the weekend.

Lawrence Hunter left Sunday for Pontiac where he has secured employment in an automobile factory.

returned to Lansing last Wednesday night in response to a telephone call from the National Coil Company where he is employed.

Many people have been wondering about the new hotel that Grayling is going to have. All that we can say is that the hotel company has not been organized as yet, but it is expected that things will be moving along in that line soon. No site for the building will be selected until the company is organized.

Owing to the steady cold during this month the AuSable river from the outlet flowing from School Section Lake down as far as the place called "the pullover" has been entirely frozen over. This is a distance of four or five miles. Parties living on the river say that this is the second time that this part of the river has been frozen over in about thirty-two years.

R. Babbitt returned from a meeting of the Deputy State game wardens of Michigan at Lansing Monday. He reports that the most important matter that was brought before the meeting was a consideration of the "buck" law, that prohibits the killing of more than one deer during the season, and that deer to have antlers. This bill will be introduced at the next session of the legislature. Also a bill will be introduced requiring a license fee for any and all hunters.

Fire broke out in the home of Leon Babbitt a few miles down the river at an early hour on Monday morning, and had such a start that Mr. Babbitt had to leave the building in his night robe. However, he managed to get on his feet boots. The building and its contents were entirely destroyed.

WORTH MORE
WORK MORE!

Compare this list of Chevy advances with the features ordinary trucks are still talking about. You'll see why Chevy trucks get more work done in a day . . . why they go extra thousands of miles before trade-in time. These Sturdy-Bilt Sixties aren't just a 37, they're a full scale revolution!

TORSION-SPRING RIDE

Each front wheel, suspended independently of the other, is free to step individually over bumps. And shockproof torsion springs up front soak up the jars and jolts before they reach the body. With three rugged new tailored-to-the-truck rear suspensions to further reduce road shocks, Chevy gives you the smoothest truck ride you've ever felt.

NO SHIMMY, NO WHEEL-FIGHT

Drive a '60 Chevy. Just once. Right away you'll notice the absence of I-beam shimmy and wheel fight common on ordinary trucks.

With independent front suspension there's a brand-new, smoother, easier handling feel behind the wheel.

CABS FOR BIG GUYS

Big guys get a bigger break in a Chevy cab. There's plenty of space inside to stretch out and relax; more room for hats and hips, more room for wide shoulders and long legs. There's horizontal visibility through a windshield with 28% more glass area; a new see-at-a-glance instrument panel. Cabs are safer, too, up to 67% more rigid.

SHORT-STROKE V8'S

Power-packed for peak performance, Chevy's husky V8's make child's play out of the toughest hauls. They have a mind tuned to economy, too, that keeps costs down, profits up.

NEW DOLLAR-SAVING PRICES

Chevrolet's low prices make big truck news for '60. They mean money in your pocket on model after model. Step-Vans, 4-Wheel Drives, many light-duty models with automatic transmissions — all are lower priced. Also, prices have been reduced on all optional V8's.

SEE YOUR DEALER

It could be the most important visit you make in '60. When you've seen these new Chevies, you'll agree they're the world's most advanced trucks. Then drive one and find out why.

GLYCOLIN TO SAVE

Chevy's 6-cylinder engines are set to squeeze extra miles out of every drop of fuel. They're long famous for low fuel consumption, high performance.

SLICK NEW SUBURBAN CHAIRVALLS

These handsome new handy haulers "double in brass" — can transport eight passengers or up to 950 lbs. of payload. Rear and center seats are easy to remove and replace when necessary. For work-or-for-pleasure, these double-duty beauties are best for both!

Five Grayling Student Nurses Graduate

Graduating exercises for a group of twenty practical nurses were held Sunday, Feb. 14th, at St. Anne's church, Cadillac, starting at 3 o'clock. The graduates filed into the church auditorium in a single line, followed by the Sisters of Mercy and the instructors, while the organ played the processional. A hymn was sung by the children's choir.

The graduating address was given by Fr. John Tamulis, and following this the class stood to recite the Florence Nightingale pledge in unison.

The roll call of graduates was read by the Rev. Mons. James Callahan, who presented the diplomas at that time. Sister Mary Grace of Cadillac, R.S.M., and Sister Mary David of Manistee, R.S.M., presented each girl with the nursing school pin as she received her diploma. The graduates walked down from alternate sides of the altar, proceeding up the side aisles to receive their diplomas, and returned to the center aisle to take their places at the front of the moving formation.

A selection by the children's choir was followed by the benediction of the Blessed Sacrament by Fr. John Tamulis, and the graduates then retired to the strains of the recessional.

After the exercises a reception for families and friends was held in the hospital auditorium. Cakes and coffee were served by the Sisters of Mercy assisted by the instructors.

Graduates who received their final clinical training at Grayling Mercy Hospital were Mrs. Jacqueline Jones and Miss Jacqueline Randall of Pontiac, Miss Janet Besaw and Miss Joan Skrownek of Alpena, and Miss Anna Jane Gray of Boyne City. Those attending from here were Sister Mary-Stella, Sister Mary Julia, Mrs. George Hilton, Mrs. Marie Becker, Mrs. Martha Sproule and Mrs. Bertha Peterson.

2,750 Locally To Usher In Year 2000

(Special to the Avalanche) New York, Feb. 16 — A large part of the population of Crawford County can count on being on hand to witness the next great calendar event of history — the arrival of the year 2,000.

Barring an atomic war or some other catastrophic event, at least 2,750 of the people now living in the county, 55.2 percent of the local population, will be here to greet the 21st Century, according to the current life expectancy tables.

The number is larger than it would have been on the basis of conditions that prevailed in Crawford County ten years ago, when the medium age of the local population was greater than it is now and life expectancy was shorter.

At that time, the 1930 census showed, the medium age locally was 30.3 years. Since then, by virtue of a sturdy birth rate and gains in the control of infectious diseases, the proportion of people in the younger age groups has been growing.

Nationally, the medium age of the population has dropped by nearly a year in the last decade, bringing it down to approximately 29.4 years in Crawford County at that rate.

This places the age locally at a point slightly above that in most parts of the United States, the national medium being 29.3 years, according to latest Government figures.

All this presumes that no gains in health, medicine or life expectancy will be made in the next 40 years.

Actually, according to a Social Security Administration actuarial study, the mortality from heart disease and cancer should be cut in half in that period, tuberculosis almost eradicated and deaths from infections reduced to the vanishing point. There is the prospect of five years being added to the average length of life during the coming four decades.

Even without this improvement, children born in Crawford County this year will have excellent chances of living beyond year 2,000 and through the first quarter of the next century, since their life expectancy is around 70 years.

At the medium age prevailing locally, 29.4 years, the life expectancy is placed at 43.5 years. For women it is about three years more than that amount and, for men, three years less.

'Any Deer' Season

"moratorium letter" from Senator Charles Prescott and the late Representative Emil Peltz, members of the legislature's conservation committee.

The Commissioners re-emphasized their respect for the judgment of these long-standing supporters of the Conservation Department and Commission, but they saw no biological reason at this time for suspending "any deer" hunting in 1960 for all but Allegan and other fruit-growing areas as requested by the two legislators.

Commissioner Rabaly said it was impossible to tell how the 1960 seasons will shape up until various surveys measuring the herd's size and carrying capacity of its range have been carefully studied.

Several Department surveys support the Commission's stand. A February 9 count of the Department's opinion, survey revealed that deer hunters being polled were two-to-one in favor of shooting a limited number of does and fawns, as well as bucks, in some parts of the state.

Department biologists, examining approximately 14,000 deer at 26 checking stations last fall, reported fewer objections to "any deer" hunting than in the past.

Letters sent to the Department's game division show that since 1956, two-thirds of the writers have been concerned with the mechanics of issuing special season permits, while only one-third have expressed their views on deer management. This trend has been reflected in permit applications.

In 1954 when the permit system began, 77,000 applications were made; last year a record 218,000 were submitted.

In lands action, the Commission voted to buy 40 acres to retain the wilderness character of the South Branch AuSable River area in Crawford County. The parcel, blocks in property gifted to the state by the late George W. Mason. It is located one mile south of the "chapel site."

Commissioners voted to lease 40 acres from Consumers Power Company to assist in providing access to a public fishing site on Manistee river in Kalkaska county. The lease calls for an annual rental fee of $100.
